

Want a drink in the lodge? A museum display? Or a techy command center? It's the winners of 2020 Photo Contest.

"Pick your poison"

Seems to be the wine-and-spirits theme for many of our Geochron photo installation pictures this year; but after three rounds of voting and eliminating more than 100 very fine photos - each with their story - we have three winners by category!

- Mechanical: A mid-century re-creation in Munich, Germany.
- General 4K: A lodge in Boulder Junction, Wisconsin, USA.
- Ham Radio: A killer ham shack in Winnipeg, MB, Canada.

Check out their photos below, and runner-ups in this 1:40 minute video. Whether it was clever home bars, clean basements, or cluttered ham shacks... I'm proud of the thousands of meticulous installations around the globe! I'll be in touch with the winners shortly to deliver their prize: An Atlas 2.

They'll be catching Santa and the ISS Live Earth View on their displays, and you can too on Christmas Eve!

Have a Merry Christmas,

Fine Finalists and other Oddities

The Santa Tracker is an excellent and popular idea from years ago that you'll see on your digital Geochron beginning Christmas Eve at the International Date Line.

Our ISS Live Earth View Stream will be free for a few days over Christmas, and you might just catch Santa's sleigh streaming across the sky... and a real-time view of the globe should bring us all a little closer together, right?
